Damage by Storm—Mrs. Millett in Hospital—Callers at Millett's.

The heavy storm of Friday night did much damage to the electric light poles over Plummer Hill. The poles were broken in several places and the electric light wires were down, causing the wires to hang in such a way that they were a danger to the public. The Brown brothers, who own the poles, are working to get them up again. On Saturday afternoon, the lights were turned on and the lights were working. It seems almost as if the storm had never happened. Mrs. Millett, who is in the hospital in Portland, is expected to leave the hospital on Sunday.

WHAT IS LIFE TO YOU?

To the preacher life's a sermon,
To the joker life's a jest,
To the miser life is money,
To the lover life's a rest,
To the soldier life's a battle,
To the teacher life's a school,
Life's a great thing for the thinker,
Life's a folly to a fool.
But a long vacation
To the man who loves his work,
But it's constant dodging duty
To the everlasting chirk,
To the faithful, honest worker
Life's a story ever new,
Life is what we try to make it—
What, my friend, is life to you?

What Uncle Lem Says

The Moneyed Interests have so far in this campaign contributed close to a million of dollars towards electing certain members of Congress and before the polls close on Nov. 4, they will undoubtedly expend several millions more.

Is anyone green enough to suppose that they are doing this for nothing? Or that they have no interest in the election except as patriotic citizens for the public good? Is the country in danger? Are any industrial interests menaced? Everybody of sense knows that there can be but one reason for such an expenditure of money—the control of the offices and hoped for favorable legislation for them.

And every one but a partisan simpleton, too, knows that when the interests put out their money to elect one in a close contest that they own him body and soul, in legislative matters and the less he knows of public affairs the easier he is controlled when he gets into the halls of legislation.

The present Congress has the name of being one of the most incompetent ones the country has ever seen. Why is this? Calvin Coolidge said that the people should elect to that body persons of character, ability and experience in public affairs. That sounds mighty well, but his admonition passes by unheeded by the masses. But the interests laugh at his platitudes and keep on electing plumps and popinjays whom they can easily manage. However they got too many of them elected in the great landslide of 1928, for they find that they can't return all of them to the next Congress.

Mark Sullivan, who is very close to the President says that of the 269 members of the dominant party in the House—40 whose seats are desirable, "obscure local Congressmen" are sure to be defeated. He is too wise to tell the whole story and "let the cat out of the bag", as the real facts pending the election, and we can safely add a large number more who will fail to again get their "noses into the public crib". But he gives his case away as to the control of the next Congress. He says, which is true, that there are at least twenty-five insurgents, commonly dubbed "wild asses of the prairie", who will have seats in the Congress to be chosen on Nov. 4-11 from Wisconsin—a solid delegation in the present House.

Add the 25 insurgents to the 35 which Sullivan admits is the minimum to be lost and this makes 60, which taken away from the dominant majority leaves them in a minority. That this will be the result unless the opposition alone elects enough to control the House there is not the least doubt.

The Senate could have been organized in the same way at any time since March 4, 1929, but it would have been of no moment, since the House had over seventy-five majority the other way. Now with the House in the same condition the situation will totally be changed. Sullivan admits that the opposition will gain a few Senators. In any event the incompetent leaders and managers of the party in power are sure to receive a deserved rebuke. This is the most important item in the judgment of your Uncle Lemuel.

The common mass of the people do not seem to understand that the real business in Congress is done in committees. One to amount to anything must know how to frame laws that will fit conditions and work out right. It is evident that bunglers, fanatics and impracticables have succeeded in making some laws which are not workable and which will have to be changed. There never was a time in the history of this country when men of capacity and real sound sense were needed in Congress, and in fact in all legislative assemblies. The crass minded may think that talk in Congress, is for effect there, and influences those few who hear it. But this is not so. The speeches are for home consumption among the mass who are easily fooled.

BUY WHAT YOU NEED

The present business depression, which is universal over the whole country (and some say the world) is due not to any real shortage of money, for there is just as much money in this country as there ever was, but to the fact that those who have money have become timid and are not buying what they need or would buy under normal conditions, thereby keeping that much money out of circulation.

To be sure, if you haven't money you cannot spend it, but those who have money and are not buying what they need or should have, are delaying by just that much the time when business will get back to normal.

The quickest and surest way to bring back National prosperity is to start buying, and the best plan locally is to buy of your local traders; they can then keep and pay their clerks, buy new goods and maintain their credit.

Let's all do our part, however modest, to bring back prosperity to our town, state and country.

Regarding Railroads and Freight Rates

By R. L. Cummings of West Paris

Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission has delivered an overdue rebuke to the business men of this country as well as the Supreme Court and the public in general, when he accuses us of lack of intelligent control of our public utilities.

He speaks especially of our railroads that are under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission of which he is a member. He says these rates should be revised downward instead of upward. We should bear in mind that rates that will increase our annual transportation charge about forty million dollars in the Northeastern part of this country have already been approved, and unless opposition is brought to bear, will be a reduction instead of an increase, and so be changed.

His statement that during his sixteen years of service, business men have shown no interest in these questions throws such vital importance to them and the public in general, I fear, is a serious, but a justifiable accusation. An advance in rates of transportation adds to the cost of all goods and materials used in the manufacture of whatever we buy and then adds another charge to the cost of transportation to you. It then takes from the price of anything you have to sell. It is probable that he would have accused the farmer and his organizations had he not considered them, too dead to respond.

When it costs more to transport a car of apples from one side of this state to the other, than the apples cost delivered at the car there is something wrong. When I receive 92¢ per barrel for apples sold at auction on the dock in England for $5.15 per barrel and $4.23 is taken up in overhead charges, when charges for the same service in 1910 would have left a net of $3.00 per barrel, there is something wrong. When the Shipping Board (appointed by the president) allows the shipping trust to charge us $2.00 per barrel to carry our apples to England, where we paid 37¢ to 78¢ per barrel for more than 20 years for the same service, "there is something wrong in Denmark."

When a public utility pays 19-1-2 per cent. on its common stock aside from 7 per cent. on its preferred and supports various holding companies, etc., and common stock probably never represented a penny of actual investment, and their charter for which they were granted these special privileges, only allows them to charge reasonable rates on actual investment properly made, it is safe to say that they are not living up to their contract with the people.

When the public demands justice in these matters we will have taken one important step on the road to prosperity.

When we shut up the greatest gambling house in the world (The Stock Exchange) and the Grain Pit) except for actual sales and delivery, we shall have gone a long way toward stopping these great financial depressions. When in our country (the richest in the world) in 76 of our largest cities 131,037 families receive aid to the amount of $3,444,078.00 during the month of August, 1930, in spite of the fact that many cities had out assistance to the lowest possible minimum, there is something wrong.

More than 100,000 barrels of good useful apples will rot on the ground in Maine this season while our departments of agriculture are adding more obstructions to the method of marketing apples.

If you make a car of apples you must pay $4.00 for inspection and the traveling expenses of the inspector and you must pay $10.00 for a license to ship apples.
